where to go and what to do

The area around our hotel in York is loaded with history. Settled in 1735, our town is the oldest permanent town west of the Susquehanna River. York served as the capital of the United States during the British occupation of Philadelphia in 1777-1778. It was here that the Articles of Confederation were adopted by the Continental Congress. You can still see the Colonial Courthouse, where the Articles were adopted. Other magnificent historic homes and businesses have been preserved for 250 years. In 1863, Confederate troops occupied the town. Yet we're not all history here. Love motorcycles? Half of all Harley-Davidson employees work here.
