where to go and what to do

We've always attracted cool people to this area. The Osage and Missouri Indians once roamed here. Lewis and Clark floated by on the Missouri River in 1803. Daniel Boone passed through in 1806. Not long after, Stephens College was established in 1833. The University of Missouri came in 1841, and Columbia College in 1851. The college experience has defined the area around our hotel in Columbia for more than 150 years and makes our city a progressive, friendly place. Enjoy the city's fantastic arts and entertainment scene, or visit one of our many parks (especially the wonderful Katy Trail, a biking adventure second-to-none).
