where to go and what to do

Though it was incorporated as a city in 1852, Joliet's roots go much deeper. It was 1673 when our town's namesake, Louis Joliet, first camped south of town. Originally dubbed "The City of Stone" after our limestone quarries, Joliet now boasts a vibrant entertainment district, restored downtown and sparkling riverfront. Not far from the Hampton Inn® hotel in Joliet-I-80, those who appreciate old buildings can see a lot of that original limestone on our many restored Victorian homes and old buildings.
