our hotel

The area around our Hampton Inn® hotel in Winchester-University/Mall Area, to any student of the War Between the States, is known for its strategic importance. After all, our city changed hands more than 70 times from 1861 to 1865. When you're here in town, you'll see evidence of that period of American history, from nearby battlefields to Stonewall Jackson's headquarters. It was here that George Washington kept an office that you can still explore. We're also the home of a National Register Historic District that stretches for 45 blocks. It's all just minutes from the Hampton Inn hotel in Winchester-University/Mall Area.

where to go and what to do

When you stay at the Hampton Inn® hotel in Winchester-University/Mall Area, you'll be in a town founded in 1744. Notables such as George Washington, Patsy Cline, Stonewall Jackson and Admiral Richard E. Byrd have all called Winchester home. See Washington's Office Museum, an 18th-century stone and timber building that features some of the president's personal effects along with interactive exhibits on his life. Stonewall Jackson's headquarters are also in town. You'll find them in an 1854 Gothic-style home. On the subject of the Civil War, the area around our hotel was considered so strategic during the War Between the States that the city changed hands more than 70 times during the conflict.
