where to go and what to do

Near the Hampton Inn® hotel in Council Bluffs, you'll find an incredible amount of history, entertainment and shopping. The question is where to start. Council Bluffs' 1885 historic "Squirrel Cage Jail" is an excellent place to begin. It's Victorian-Gothic architecture and remarkable mechanical sophistication (cells are sort of on a giant lazy Susan) will amaze visitors. While you're downtown, see the General Dodge Home, a lavish structure owned by one of the great railroad tycoons, Grenville M. Dodge. Ever wondered where the East ended and the West began? Check out the Golden Spike Monument, a 56-foot behemoth erected in 1939 that marked the eastern terminus of the Union Pacific Railroad.
